

January 27, 2026

Submitted Electronically

Brian J. Feldman, Chair
Cheryl C. Kagan, Vice Chair
Senate Education, Energy, and the Environment Committee
2 West Miller Senate Office Building
Annapolis, Maryland 21401

RE: Senate Bill 255 – Voting Rights Act of 2026 – Counties and Municipalities

Chair Feldman and Vice Chair Kagan:

On behalf of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF),¹ we appreciate the opportunity to submit written testimony in strong support of S.B. 255, Voting Rights Act of 2026 – Counties and Municipalities. S.B. 255 provides key protections against election systems that drown out or weaken voters’ voices based on their race.² Its enactment would build Maryland’s status as a national leader in protecting the right to vote, just as we are facing increasing threats at the federal level.

S.B. 255 is a key part of the Maryland Voting Rights Act (“MDVRA”) legislative package.³ The MDVRA builds upon the best parts of the landmark federal Voting Rights Act of 1965⁴ and recent efforts by states such as New York, Connecticut, Minnesota, Colorado and neighboring Virginia to provide

¹ Since its founding in 1940, LDF has used litigation, policy advocacy, public education, and community organizing strategies to achieve racial justice and equity in the areas of education, economic justice, political participation, and criminal justice. It has been a separate organization from the NAACP since 1957.

² S.B. 255 (2026).

³ In the 2026 legislative session, the MDVRA legislative package includes S.B. 255/H.B. 350 and H.B. 219. Last year, Maryland enacted HB 983/SB 685 “Election Law—Local Boards of Elections—Language-Related Assistance,” which was an important stepping stone towards the full language access protections envisioned through the MDVRA.

⁴ 52 U.S.C. §§ 10301–10314.

much-needed protections against voting discrimination.⁵ Through this critical legislative package, Maryland would help set the standard for state-level protections for Black voters and other voters of color, and become a national leader in building an inclusive, multiracial democracy.

Marylanders agree with us that advancing the MDVRA should be a top affirmative voting rights priority. Eight-in-ten Maryland voters support passing a MDVRA (81%) and would like their state legislators to prioritize enacting such legislation (80%).⁶

I. The Legal Defense Fund’s Long History of Protecting and Advancing Voting Rights

Founded in 1940 under the leadership of Maryland native Thurgood Marshall, LDF is America’s premier legal organization fighting for racial justice. Through litigation, advocacy, and public education, LDF seeks structural changes to expand democracy, eliminate disparities, and achieve racial justice in a society that fulfils the promise of equality for all Americans.

LDF has prioritized its work protecting the right of Black communities to vote for more than 85 years—representing Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and other marchers in Selma, Alabama in 1965, advancing the passage of the Voting Rights Act (VRA), litigating seminal cases interpreting the federal VRA’s scope,⁷ and working in communities across the South to strengthen and protect the ability of Black voters to participate in the political process free from discrimination.

In the wake of recent Supreme Court cases that have undercut the federal VRA,⁸ as Congress struggles to respond with federal legislation,⁹ and as states across the country move to further restrict the franchise,¹⁰ LDF has prioritized working to advance State Voting Rights Acts (State VRAs) to meet the urgent need to protect Black voters from discrimination. LDF worked with partners to successfully advocate for the enactment of the John R. Lewis

⁵ A.6678E / S.1046E, 2022 Reg. Sess. (N.Y. 2022), <https://www.nysenate.gov/legislation/bills/2021/A6678> (hereinafter “NYVRA”); H.B. 6941, 2023 Reg. Sess (Conn. 2023), <https://www.cga.ct.gov/2023/ACT/PA/PDF/2023PA-00204-R00HB-06941-PA.PDF> (hereinafter “CTVRA”); Minn. Stat. §§ 200.50–200.59 (hereinafter “MNVRA”); CO VRA, Co. Rev. Stat. §§ 1-47-101-302, https://leg.colorado.gov/bill_files/40976/download; S.B. 1395, 2022 Reg. Sess. (Va. 2021), <https://lis.virginia.gov/cgi-bin/legp604.exe?211+sum+SB1395>.

⁶ Mem. from LDF & Impact Rsch. to Interested Parties (Jan. 30, 2025), <https://www.naacpldf.org/wp-content/uploads/IMPACT-LDF-MDVRA-Key-Findings.pdf>.

⁷ See e.g. Louisiana v. Callais, 606 U.S. ___ (2025); Allen v. Milligan, 599 U.S. 1 (2023).

⁸ See, e.g., Shelby Cnty. v. Holder, 570 U.S. 529 (2013); Brnovich v. Democratic Nat’l Comm., 594 U.S. 647 (2021).

⁹ Freedom to Vote: John R. Lewis Act, H.R. 5746, 117th Cong. (2021).

¹⁰ Voting Laws Roundup: September 2024, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (Sept. 26, 2024), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/voting-laws-roundup-september-2024>.

Voting Rights Act of New York (the New York Voting Rights Act or “NYVRA”) in 2022, the John R. Lewis Voting Rights Act of Connecticut (the Connecticut Voting Rights Act or “CTVRA”) in 2023, and the Minnesota Voting Rights Act (“MNVRA”) in 2024.¹¹

This work has only become more urgent as we are now seeing attacks, not progress, on voting rights at the federal level. Through Executive Orders,¹² anti-voter legislation in Congress,¹³ and a weaponized Department of Justice,¹⁴ the current Administration has turned the federal government from a bulwark against discrimination into a direct threat to voting rights for Black voters and other people of color. Attacks have also continued in the courts. Last year the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eight Circuit ruled that voters cannot use the federal VRA directly to protect their rights, but rather they must depend upon the Department of Justice.¹⁵ And the Supreme Court will rule imminently in Louisiana v. Callais, the latest effort by states to undercut the VRA.¹⁶

These acute threats have driven substantial interest in State VRAs. Eight states have enacted their own State VRA; and at least ten other states have introduced legislation to date—a list we expect to expand as more legislative sessions get underway in 2026.¹⁷ This year we are working with robust coalitions of civil and voting rights advocates seeking to advance similar laws here in Maryland and a number of other states.

As a vibrantly diverse state¹⁸ with historic Black leadership, as a state with a longstanding history of racial discrimination that has made substantial strides in opening its democracy,¹⁹ and as the birthplace of our founder Thurgood Marshall, we are excited to work with the General Assembly to ensure that Maryland protects Black voters with a state-level voting rights act.

¹¹ NYVRA, N.Y. Elec. L. §§ 17-200–222; CTVRA, Conn. Gen. Stat. §§ 9-368i–q; MNVRA, Minn. Stat. §§ 200.50–200.59.

¹² Exec. Order No. 14, 248 (2025) (mandating significant changes to elections, including proof of citizenship for voter registration and restrictions on ballot counting).

¹³ Safeguard American Voter Eligibility (SAVE) Act, H.R. 22, 119th Cong. (2025).

¹⁴ Tracker of Justice Department Request for Voter Information, Brennan Center (Aug. 28, 2025, updated Jan. 23, 2026), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/tracker-justice-department-requests-voter-information>.

¹⁵ Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa Indians v. Howe, 137 F.4th 710 (8th Cir. 2025).

¹⁶ Louisiana v. Callais, 606 U.S. ___ (2025).

¹⁷ State Voting Rights Acts Map, Legal Defense Fund (Jan. 2026), <https://www.naacpldf.org/state-voting-rights-acts/>.

¹⁸ Marissa J. Lang & Ted Mellnik, Census Data Shows Maryland Is Now the East Coast’s Most Diverse State, While D.C. Is Whiter, Wash. Post (Aug. 12, 2021), <https://www.washingtonpost.com/dc-md-va/2021/08/12/dc-virginia-maryland-census-redistricting-2/>.

¹⁹ Bennett Leckrone, Election Reforms Will Make Voting More Accessible in Maryland, Advocates Say, Md. Matters (June 16, 2021), <https://www.marylandmatters.org/2021/06/16/election-reforms-will-make-voting-more-accessible-in-maryland-advocates-say/>.

II. Racial Discrimination in Voting in Maryland

Maryland has made substantial progress in making voting more equitable and accessible, yet substantial racial disparities persist in both voter participation and local representation.

In spite of its name, the Free State has a troubling legacy of racial terror linked to voter suppression. Lynchings have been documented in 18 of the state's 24 counties.²⁰ As the Vice Chair of the Maryland Lynching Truth and Reconciliation Commission noted prior to the 2020 election, “[t]he legacy of lynching is directly connected to voter suppression and attempts to stoke fear in the hearts of Black and brown [people] and allies of every color . . . ”²¹ Three decades ago, a federal court detailed Maryland's history of voting discrimination in a ruling striking down a state legislative redistricting plan as racially discriminatory, noting that this history is marked by a 1904 provision that disenfranchised Black voters through the mid-1980s and a dual registration system that kept many Black voters from the polls until 1988.²²

Unfortunately, voting discrimination is not just a relic of the past—it persists today. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, Maryland has seen substantial racial disparities in racial turnout in recent elections. For example, for the 2022 elections, turnout for white Marylanders was almost ten points higher than for Black residents, and 20 points higher than for Latine voters.²³ Research from the Brennan Center for Justice shows that Maryland ranked second in the nation in 2022 for the number of Black voters who did not vote but would have if turnout rates were equal between Black and white Marylanders.²⁴ In other words, due to Maryland's significant Black population, its racial turnout disparities are warping its electorate to sharply reduce Black political power.

In addition to disparities in participation, research suggests that voters of color in Maryland experience significant disparities in local representation. The ACLU of Maryland has found that many racially diverse communities

²⁰ Jonathan M. Pitts, Maryland Conference on Lynchings Finds Links to Voter Suppression, Social Inequality, Balt. Sun (Oct. 19, 2020), <https://www.baltimoresun.com/maryland/bs-md-maryland-lynching-conference-20201019-wqdo2w6xorc3vm73jzmtguisda-story.html>.

²¹ Id.

²² Marylanders for Fair Representation v. Schaefer, 849 F.Supp. 1022, 1061 (D.Md, Jan. 14, 1994) (finding that “all-white, but state-funded, volunteer fire departments on the Eastern Shore [that] functioned as a kind of unofficial slating organization for white candidates”).

²³ Press Release, U.S. Census Bureau, Voting and Registration in the Election of November 2022 tbl. 4b (Reported Voting and Registration of the Total Voting-Age Population, by Sex, Race and Hispanic Origin, for States: November 2022 [<1.0 MB]) (Apr. 2023), <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-586.html>.

²⁴ Kevin Morris & Coryn Grange, Growing Racial Disparities in Voter Turnout, 2008–2022, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (Mar. 2, 2024), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/growing-racial-disparities-voter-turnout-2008-2022>.

across the state do not appear to have any elected officials who are people of color.²⁵

Although such descriptive underrepresentation itself is not necessarily unlawful (the relevant metric is the ability of voters of color to elect candidates of choice, regardless of such candidates' race), substantial racial disparities in political participation coupled with signs of systemic underrepresentation are concerning red flags of racial discrimination in voting, and are often associated with racially discriminatory barriers to the franchise, such as insufficient polling places in communities of color that suppress turnout among voters of color, or district maps that crack or pack voters of color to dilute their voting strength.

Moreover, the prevalence of at-large election structures throughout Maryland—a form of election which, when combined with racially polarized voting or other relevant factors, can “operate to minimize or cancel out the voting strength of racial minorities in the voting population”—raises questions about potential vote dilution that may be going unchallenged at present.²⁶ The ACLU of Maryland found that, as of 2024, the majority (63%) of municipalities with substantial populations of people of color use fully at-large election systems, and nearly three-quarters (73%) use some form of at-large voting.²⁷ To be clear, at-large elections are not discriminatory in all cases; but under certain circumstances can operate to dilute, or drown out, certain voters' voices based on race.

The bottom line is that in communities across Maryland, there is a high risk that Black voters and other voters of color have not been able to elect candidates of their choice to local government.

III. Limitations of the Federal Voting Rights Act

Although the individual and collective provisions of the federal VRA have been effective at combatting a wide range of barriers and burdens,²⁸ federal courts have weakened some of the federal VRA's protections in recent years, making it increasingly complex and burdensome for litigants to vindicate their rights under the law. As a result, despite the federal VRA's

²⁵ ACLU Md., Why Maryland Needs Its Own Voting Rights Act, https://www.aclu-md.org/sites/default/files/mdvra_need_public_onepager_mdga25_english.pdf (last visited Feb.21, 2025). The ACLU is in the process of updating this research, last conducted in 2024. Preliminary results suggest some improvements in descriptive representation but have still identified significant disparities.

²⁶ Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 47 (1986) (internal quotations and brackets omitted).

²⁷ ACLU Md., supra note 25, at 2.

²⁸ Myrna Pérez, Voting Rights Act: The Legacy of the 15th Amendment, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (June 30, 2009), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/analysis-opinion/voting-rights-act-legacy-15th-amendment>.

importance, voters of color often face significant barriers to participate in the political process and elect candidates of their choice.

Maryland voters, supported by organizations such as the ACLU of Maryland, have used the federal VRA to achieve important voting rights victories in recent years.²⁹ Yet, existing federal law does not fully address the need for voting rights protections in Maryland and other states. For nearly 50 years, Section 5 of the federal VRA, the heart of the legislation, protected millions of voters of color from racial discrimination in voting by requiring certain political subdivisions to obtain approval from the federal government before implementing a voting change.³⁰ However, in Shelby County, Alabama v. Holder, the United States Supreme Court rendered Section 5’s “preclearance” process inoperable by striking down Section 4(b) of the federal VRA, which identified the places where Section 5 applied.³¹

Predictably, the Shelby County decision unleashed a wave of voter suppression in states that were previously covered under Section 4(b).³² This onslaught accelerated after the 2020 election, which saw historic levels of participation by voters of color (albeit with persistent racial turnout gaps).³³ Following that election, in 2021, state lawmakers introduced more than 440 bills with provisions that restrict voting access in 49 states, and 34 such laws were enacted.³⁴ This wave of harmful legislation shows no signs of abating: In 2025, state legislatures enacted at least 31 restrictive voting laws, the second highest total since 2011.³⁵

²⁹ Settlement Order, Caroline Cnty. NAACP v. Federalsburg, No. 1:23-CV-00484, ECF No. 56; Baltimore County NAACP et al v. Baltimore County et al, ACLU Md. (Aug. 20, 2024), <https://www.aclu-md.org/en/cases/baltimore-county-naacp-et-al-v-baltimore-county-et-al>; Press Release, ACLU Md., VICTORY: Federal Judge Orders Baltimore County to Submit Redistricting Plan that Complies with Voting Rights Act (Feb. 22, 2022), <https://www.aclu-md.org/en/press-releases/victory-federal-judge-orders-baltimore-county-submit-redistricting-plan-complies>; Press Release, ACLU Md., Landmark Settlement, with Sweeping Array of Restorative Measures, Unveiled in Historic Federalsburg Voting Rights Case (Apr. 3, 2024) <https://www.aclu-md.org/en/press-releases/landmark-settlement-sweeping-array-restorative-measures-unveiled-historic>.

³⁰ See 52 U.S.C. § 10304.

³¹ See Shelby Cnty., 570 U.S. at 557.

³² See Legal Def. Fund, Democracy Defended (Sept. 2, 2021), https://www.naacpldf.org/wp-content/uploads/LDF_2020_DemocracyDefended-1-3.pdf; see also Legal Def. Fund, A Primer on Sections 2 and 3(c) of the Voting Rights Act 1 (Jan. 5, 2021), <https://www.naacpldf.org/wp-content/uploads/LDF-Sections-2-and-3c-VRA-primer-1.5.21.pdf>.

³³ Kevin Morris & Coryn Grange, Large Racial Turnout Gap Persisted in 2020 Election, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (Aug. 6, 2021), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/analysis-opinion/large-racial-turnout-gap-persisted-2020-election>.

³⁴ Voting Laws Roundup: December 2021, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (Jan. 12, 2022), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/voting-laws-roundup-december-2021>.

³⁵ State Voting Laws Roundup: 2025 in Review, Brennan Ctr. for Just., N.Y.U. L. (Jan. 21, 2026), <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/state-voting-laws-roundup-2025-review>.

Section 2 of the federal VRA offers a private right of action to challenge any voting practice or procedure that “results in a denial or abridg[ment] of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race.”³⁶ But Section 2 litigation imposes a high bar for plaintiffs. Such cases are expensive and can take years to reach resolution.³⁷ Section 2 lawsuits generally require multiple expert witnesses for both plaintiffs and defendants.³⁸ Plaintiffs and their lawyers risk at least six- or seven-figure expenditures in Section 2 lawsuits.³⁹ Individual plaintiffs, even when supported by civil rights organizations or private lawyers, often lack the resources and specialized legal expertise to effectively prosecute Section 2 claims.⁴⁰ Moreover, even when voters ultimately prevail in the lawsuits, several unfair elections may be held while the litigation is pending, subjecting voters to irreparable harm.⁴¹ Due to these challenges, some potential Section 2 violations are never identified, addressed, or litigated in court.⁴²

Section 2 claims are also expensive for jurisdictions to defend, regularly costing political subdivisions considerable amounts of taxpayer money. For example, the East Ramapo Central School District in New York State paid its lawyers more than $7 million for unsuccessfully defending a Section 2 lawsuit brought by the local NAACP branch—and, after the NAACP branch prevailed, was ordered to pay over $4 million in plaintiffs’ attorneys’ fees and costs as well.⁴³ In Veasey v. Abbott, the federal lawsuit in which LDF challenged the State of Texas’s Voter ID law with other civil rights groups and the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ), the district court and the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals required Texas to pay more than $6.7 million toward the non-DOJ

³⁶ 52 U.S.C. § 10301(a).

³⁷ Voting Rights Act: Section 5 of the Act – History, Scope, and Purpose: Hr’g Before the Subcomm. on the Const. of the H. Comm. on the Judiciary, 109th Cong. 92 (2005) (“Two to five years is a rough average” for the length of Section 2 lawsuits).

³⁸ Legal Def. Fund, The Cost (in Time, Money, and Burden) of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act Litigation at 2 (Feb. 2021), <https://www.naacpldf.org/wp-content/uploads/Section-2-costs-2.19.21.pdf>; see also, e.g., Mike Faulk, Big Costs, Heavy Hitters in ACLU Suit Against Yakima, Yakima Herald (Aug. 10, 2014), https://www.yakimaherald.com/special_projects/aclu/big-costs-heavy-hitters-in-aclu-suit-against-yakima/article_3bcce20-ee9d-11e4-bfba-f3e05bd949ca.html.

³⁹ Legal Def. Fund, supra note 38.

⁴⁰ Voting Rights and Election Administration in the Dakotas: Hr’g Before the Subcomm. on Elections, 116th Cong. 64 (2019).

⁴¹ Shelby Cnty., 570 U.S. at 572 (Ginsburg, J., dissenting) (“An illegal scheme might be in place for several election cycles before a [Section] 2 plaintiff can gather sufficient evidence to challenge it.”).

⁴² Congressional Authority to Protect Voting Rights After Shelby County v. Holder: Hr’g Before the Subcomm. on the Const., C.R. & C.L. of the H. Comm. on Judiciary, 116th Cong. 14 (Sept. 24, 2019) (Written Test. of Professor Justin Levitt).

⁴³ Jennifer Korn, ERCSD Threatens to Fire Teachers if Legal Fees Not Cut to $1: NAACP Leaders Respond, Rockland Cnty. Times (Jan. 21, 2020), <https://www.rocklandtimes.com/2021/01/21/ercsd-threatens-to-fire-teachers-if-legal-fees-not-cut-to-1-naacp-leaders-respond/>; Report and Recommendation, NAACP, Spring Valley Branch v. E. Ramapo Cent. Sch. Dist., No. 7:17-08943-CS-JCM (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 29, 2020).

plaintiffs' documented litigation costs.⁴⁴ Recent voting rights litigation in Baltimore County has left taxpayers on the hook for more than $800,000 to pay County lawyers seeking to defend its unlawful district map, in addition to attorneys' fees they will owe Black voters who succeeded in establishing a violation of the VRA.⁴⁵

Above and beyond its complexity and cost, litigation under Section 2 of the federal VRA simply cannot keep up with the urgency of the political process. Because elections occur frequently, discriminatory electoral maps or practices can harm voters almost immediately after rules are changed. However, on average, Section 2 cases can last two to five years, and unlawful elections often take place before a case can be resolved.⁴⁶

To be clear, Section 2 litigation can be life changing for Black voters. This is evident in Allen v. Milligan,⁴⁷ where LDF's clients secured a second district where Black voters have an opportunity to elect their candidates of choice. In November 2024, Black voters showed up to the polls and elected a Black candidate to Congress.⁴⁸ Allen v. Milligan upheld decades of precedent under Section 2 and recognized that attacks on Black voters' rights continue today. As of January 2026, in Louisiana v. Callais, however, the Supreme Court is now reconsidering whether communities of color can have meaningful representation through maps redrawn to comply with Section 2 of the federal Voting Rights Act.⁴⁹ Just three years after Milligan, Callais now threatens to undercut voters' federal protections against racial vote dilution. S.B. 255's state level protections against racial vote dilution could not be timelier.

IV. S.B. 255 Protects Maryland Voters Against Discriminatory Racial Vote Dilution

S.B. 255 directly addresses the challenge of underrepresentation of Black voters and other voters of color through elected leadership in local government by building upon the protections against racial vote dilution contained in the federal VRA. The bill provides more guidance to courts to ensure that any resulting state-court litigation is more streamlined and cost-effective than federal cases—for both voters and local jurisdictions. The S.B.

⁴⁴ See Mike Scarcella, 5th Circuit Upholds $6.7 mln in Fees for Plaintiffs in Voting Rights Case, Reuters (Sept. 4, 2021), <https://reut.rs/3tN14L7>.

⁴⁵ Balt. Cnty. Branch of the NAACP v. Balt. Cnty., No. 21-cv-3232-LKG, ECF No. 105-4 (D. Md. Feb. 5, 2024) (attaching Defendants' counsel's invoices for the duration of litigation to Plaintiffs' fee petition).

⁴⁶ Shelby Cnty., 570 U.S. at 572 (Ginsburg, J., concurring) ("An illegal scheme might be in place for several election cycles before a [Section] 2 plaintiff can gather sufficient evidence to challenge it.").

⁴⁷ Allen v. Milligan, 599 U.S. 1 (2023).

⁴⁸ Kim Chandler, Figures wins Alabama's redrawn 2nd Congressional District, AP News (Nov. 6, 2024), <https://apnews.com/article/alabama-house-shomari-figures-caroleene-dobson-a538c479e7cc06fb43adc4094bd84ee7>.

⁴⁹ Louisiana v. Callais FAQ, NAACP LDF, <https://www.naacpldf.org/case-issue/louisiana-v-callais-faq/>.

255 language is largely the same as S.B. 342, passed by the Senate in the 2025 legislative session, with some small but important technical improvements.⁵⁰ The provisions are rooted in S.B. 413, first introduced in 2022, and informed by language featured in one of the recently adopted State VRAs, the 2024 Minnesota Voting Rights Act, which in turn builds upon years of experience developing State VRAs and enforcing the federal VRA and State VRAs.⁵¹

A. Cause of Action Against Racial Vote Dilution

Significantly, S.B. 255 provides voters with a private right of action to challenge dilutive election structures or district maps, which weaken or drown out voters' voices based on race.⁵² The legislation codifies into Maryland law the same types of protections against racial vote dilution that have long been covered by Section 2 of the federal Voting Rights Act,⁵³ and adopts a clarified and streamlined legal standard for these claims.⁵⁴ The legal standard for S.B. 255's private right of action against vote dilution is informed by similar protections against vote dilution recently adopted in Minnesota and Colorado.⁵⁵

S.B. 255's vote dilution provision will enable voters to contest at-large local elections in the specific circumstance that this election system dilutes minority voting strength in a particular community.⁵⁶ It will also provide a framework for contesting district-based elections that configure districts in a manner that denies voters an equal opportunity to participate in the political process and elect candidates of choice based on race, for instance, through districting plans that crack communities of color into multiple districts or pack voters of color into just one district.⁵⁷

⁵⁰ S.B. 342 (2025). In comparison to last session's bill, S.B. 255 adds a fee shifting provision to ensure enforcement; clarifies that the law will protect multi-racial groups that face vote dilution (i.e. coalition claims); and adds further clarity to the scope of the polarized voting inquiry and the definition of polarized voting.

⁵¹ MNVRA, Minn. Stat. §§ 200.50–200.59.

⁵² S.B. 255 §§ 15.7–103(A); 15.7–106(A).

⁵³ See Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30 (1986).

⁵⁴ S.B. 255 § 15.7–103(B). Like other state VRAs, the MDVRA's legal standard draws from federal law interpreting Section 2 by permitting claims to be brought primarily on the basis of racially polarized voting, which has been widely acknowledged by federal courts to be the “linchpin” of Section 2. See, e.g., Gingles, 478 U.S. 30; Allen v. Milligan, 599 U.S. 1 (2023). Numerous federal courts have recognized that “[e]vidence of racially polarized voting is the linchpin of a section 2 vote dilution claim.” See Westwego Citizens for Better Gov't v. City of Westwego, 872 F.2d 1201, 1207 (5th Cir. 1989); Cano v. Davis, 211 F. Supp. 2d 1208, 1238 (C.D. Cal. 2002), aff'd, 537 U.S. 1100 (2003); Harding v. Cnty. of Dallas, 336 F. Supp. 3d 677, 690 (N.D. Tex. 2018), aff'd 948 F.3d 302 (5th Cir. 2020); see also McMillan v. Escambia Cnty., 748 F.2d 1037, 1043 (5th Cir. 1984) (“racially polarized voting will ordinarily be the keystone of a dilution case”).

⁵⁵ See, e.g., MNVRA, Minn. Stat. §§ 200.50–200.59; CO VRA, Co. Rev. Stat. §§ 1-47-101-302.

⁵⁶ S.B. 255 § 15.7–105.

⁵⁷ Id.

The legislation will make vote dilution litigation more predictable, less time-intensive, and less costly than litigation under the federal VRA. This will benefit both voters who seek to vindicate their rights as well as political subdivisions seeking to comply with the law.

More than three-quarters (77%) of Maryland voters support “[s]topping racial vote dilution - when politicians manipulate voting districts to weaken or drown out the voices of Black and Brown voters.”⁵⁸

B. Benchmark for Measuring Vote Dilution

A key aspect of S.B. 255 is how it provides a clear, flexible benchmark for measuring vote dilution. To establish a violation, S.B. 255 requires plaintiffs to show that there is a plausible alternative district map or election system that would allow protected class members to elect candidates of choice in a more equitable manner.⁵⁹ This clear guidance for evaluating unlawful dilution mitigates the risk that state courts may impose their own benchmarks, which could lead to inconsistent outcomes or import harmful federal case law into state law.⁶⁰

C. Clear Guidance Regarding Remedies

One challenge with federal litigation is that courts have tended to defer to a defendant jurisdiction to propose a remedy, giving the very same jurisdiction that just violated the law priority and preference in the remedial process.⁶¹ This was the case in recent litigation over Baltimore County’s districts, which resulted in a new district map that did not enable Black voters to elect an additional candidate of their choice.⁶² S.B. 255 makes clear that courts should consider all proposed remedies on equal footing and not give preference to those proposed by defendant jurisdictions.⁶³ This would likely have led to a more equitable outcome in the Baltimore County litigation.

D. Application to an Upcoming Election

S.B. 255 ensures Marylanders are not forced to vote under discriminatory election systems just because an election is coming up and may ⁵⁸ LDF & Impact Rsch., supra note 6, at 2.

⁵⁹ S.B. 255 §§15.7–903 to 15.7–104(A).

⁶⁰ Id.

⁶¹ See McGhee v. Granville Cnty., 860 F.2d 110, 115 (4th Cir. 1988) (giving the legislative body the first opportunity to devise an acceptable remedial plan to which the district court must give great deference).

⁶² Balt. Cnty. Branch of the NAACP v. Balti. Cnty., No. 21-CV-03232-LKG, 2022 WL 657562, 2 (D. Md. Feb. 22, 2022). The Plaintiffs’ expert demographer was able to craft a district map that created two districts where the Black community held 53 percent of the population. Instead, the County’s plan, accepted by the Court, packed the Black community into a single district comprising 61 percent of the population, maintaining white voting age majorities in every other district.

⁶³ S.B. 255 § 15.7-106(C)

be taking place a few months away. At the federal level, the Supreme Court and lower courts have allowed jurisdictions to maintain discriminatory district maps for an upcoming election even when voters moved quickly to challenge these maps and there is ample time to implement a fairer system.⁶⁴ S.B. 255 makes it clear that Maryland courts need not follow this troubling federal precedent, and instead can remedy a discriminatory map as long as it is possible to do so before an upcoming election.⁶⁵

F. Racially Polarized Voting as an Empirical Inquiry

S.B. 255 clarifies that the presence of racially polarized voting is an empirical inquiry, not a question of motive.⁶⁶ The concept of racially polarized voting means electoral preferences tend to break down along racial lines. Its presence creates an important risk of vote dilution because it means in certain election systems members of a racial minority may not be able to effectuate their preferences, which are different than the majority's preferences. The reasons preferences may differ among racial groups are not relevant to the inquiry. In fact, the search for reasons behind differing preferences tends to confuse the issue and distract from the central point: when a majority's preferences are consistently different than a minority's, certain election methods or district maps will facilitate the majority drowning out the minority's voice.

V. Equitable Voting Rights Protections Have Concrete Benefits

Robust voting rights protections, like those in the federal VRA and state-level voting rights acts, can have powerful effects in making the democratic process fairer, more equal, and more inclusive. These effects include reducing racial turnout disparities,⁶⁷ making government more responsive to the needs and legislative priorities of communities of color,⁶⁸ and increasing diversity in government office,⁶⁹ so that elected representatives more fully reflect the communities they serve.

⁶⁴ Purcell v. Gonzalez, 549 U.S. 1 (2006); Allen v. Milligan, 599 U.S. 1 (2023).

⁶⁵ S.B. 255 § 15.7–106(D).

⁶⁶ S.B. 255 § 15.7-104(B)(3)(II).

⁶⁷ Zachary L. Hertz, Analyzing the Effects of a Switch to By-District Elections in California, MIT Election Lab (July 19, 2021), https://electionlab.mit.edu/sites/default/files/2021-07/hertz_2020.pdf.

⁶⁸ Sophie Schllit & Jon C. Rogowski, Race, Representation, and the Voting Rights Act, 61 Am. J. Pol. Sci. 513 (July 2017), <https://www.jstor.org/stable/26379507>.

⁶⁹ Loren Collingwood & Sean Long, Can States Promote Minority Representation? Assessing the Effects of the California Voting Rights Act, 57 Urb. Aff. Rev. 731, 757 (2021), https://www.collingwoodresearch.com/uploads/8/3/6/0/8360930/cvra_project.pdf; see Pei-te Lien et al., The Voting Rights Act and the Election of Nonwhite Officials, 40 Pol. Sci. & Pol. 489 (July 2007), <https://www.jstor.org/stable/20452002>; Paru R. Shah et al., Are We There Yet? The Voting Rights Act and Black Representation on City Councils, 1981-2006, 75 J. Pol. 993 (Aug. 20, 2013), <https://www.jstor.org/stable/10.1017/s0022381613000972>.

There is evidence that measures like the MDVRA can have powerful, downstream benefits in health and economic equality as well. Professor Thomas A. LaVeist of Tulane University, in a landmark study, identified the federal VRA as a causal factor in reducing infant mortality in Black communities where the law’s protections had led to fairer representation.⁷⁰ Recent analyses show that incremental improvements in diversity in local representation translate into more equitable educational and policy outcomes.⁷¹ For these reasons, the American Medical Association has recognized voting rights as a social determinant of health and declared support for “measures to facilitate safe and equitable access to voting as a harm-reduction strategy to safeguard public health.”⁷² In short, the MDVRA can have significant, potentially transformative benefits for democracy and society in this state.

VI. Conclusion

This Committee hearing takes place as we await a decision by the Supreme Court in Louisiana v. Callais, a case in which both the State of Louisiana and the United States are urging the Court to severely limit how Black voters and voters of color can remedy racial vote dilution, participate in fair elections, and gain effective representation across the country. Maryland now has a unique opportunity to stand up for all Marylanders by enacting its own VRA.

We urge this Committee to safeguard Maryland voters by prioritizing moving S.B. 255 forward to the Senate floor; and we stand ready to work with you to protect Black voters, and other voters of color, in the Free State.

Please feel free to contact Adam Lioz at (917) 494-2617 or alioz@naacpldf.org with any questions or to discuss S.B. 255 in more detail.

⁷⁰ Thomas A. LaVeist, The Political Empowerment and Health Status of African-Americans: Mapping a New Territory, 97 Am. J. Socio. 1080 (1992), <https://www.jstor.org/stable/2781507>.

⁷¹ See, e.g., Vladimir Kogan et al., How Does Minority Political Representation Affect School District Administration and Student Outcomes?, 65 Am. J. Pol. Sci. 699 (July 2021), <https://www.jstor.org/stable/45415637> (discussing “evidence that increases in minority representation lead to cumulative achievement gains . . . among minority students”); Brett Fischer, No Spending Without Representation: School Boards and the Racial Gap in Education Finance, 15 Am. Econ. J: Econ. Pol’y 198 (2023), <https://www.aeaweb.org/articles?id=10.1257/pol.20200475> (presenting “causal evidence that greater minority representation on school boards translates into greater investment in minority students”).

⁷² Support for Safe and Equitable Access to Voting H-440.805, [J]AMA|PolicyFinder (2022), <https://policysearch.ama-assn.org/policyfinder/detail/voting?uri=%2FAMADoc%2FHOD.xml-h-440.805.xml>; see also Anna K. Hing, The Right to Vote, The Right to Health: Voter Suppression as a Determinant of Racial Health Disparities, 12 J. Health Disparities Rsch. & Prac. 48 (2019), <https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/jhdrp/vol12/iss6/5>.

Sincerely,

/s/ Adam Lioz

Adam Lioz

NAACP Legal Defense & Educational Fund, Inc.
700 14th Street N.W., Ste. 600
Washington, DC 20005

/s/ Imani Brooks

Imani Brooks

NAACP Legal Defense & Educational Fund, Inc.
700 14th Street N.W., Ste. 600
Washington, DC 20005

NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.

Since its founding in 1940, LDF has used litigation, policy advocacy, public education, and community organizing strategies to achieve racial justice and equity in education, economic justice, political participation, and criminal justice. Throughout its history, LDF has worked to enforce and promote laws and policies that increase access to the electoral process and prohibit voting discrimination, intimidation, and suppression. LDF has been fully separate from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (“NAACP”) since 1957, though LDF was originally founded by the NAACP and shares its commitment to equal rights.